

Time to stop private tenants being put in danger!

The Electrical Safety Council has reported that private tenants are disproportionately affected by electric shocks in their homes and that more one fifth of all private tenants already report concerns with electrical safety in their home.

Legislation is need to require landlords to have periodic inspection and testing of electrical wiring (installations) and appliances in all rented homes. Why are annual gas safety checks required by law but not checks on electrics!

Sign-up to the campaign to stop any more electrocutions of private tenants through faulty electrical wiring and appliances which have not been inspected and tested.

Sign up at the website below

<http://KeepRentingSafe.weebly.com/sign-up.html>

The campaign is being organised by the National Private Tenants Organisation <http://www.npto.btck.co.uk>